3. (1) Where a maintenance order has, whether before or after the passing of this Act, been made against any person by any Court in England or Northern Ireland and a certified copy of the order has been transmitted by the Secretary of State to the Governor-General, the Governor-General shall send a copy of the order to the prescribed officer of a Court in the State for registration; and on receipt thereof the order shall be registered in the prescribed manner, and shall, from the date of such registration, be of the same force and effect, and, subject to the provisions of this Act, all proceedings may be taken on such order as if it had been an order originally obtained in the Court in which it is so registered, and that Court shall have power to enforce the order accordingly.

(Amended by Act 6 of 1976)

(2) The Court in which an order is to be so registered as aforesaid shall if the Court by which the order was made was a Court of Superior Jurisdiction be the High Court and if the Court was not a Court of Superior Jurisdiction be the Court of Summary Jurisdiction.

4. Where a Court in the State has, whether before or after the commencement of this Act, made a maintenance order against any person and it is proved to that Court that the person against whom the order was made is resident in England or Northern Ireland the Court shall send to the Governor-General for transmission to the Secretary of State a certified copy of the order.

(Amended by Act 6 of 1976)

Power to make provisional orders of maintenance against persons resident in England or Northern Ireland.

5. (1) Where an application is made to a Court of Summary Jurisdiction in the State for a maintenance order against any person and it is proved that that person is resident in England or Northern Ireland the Court may, in the absence of that person if, after hearing the evidence, it is satisfied of the justice of the application, make any such order as it might have made if a summons had been duly served on that person and he or she had failed to appear at the hearing but in such case the order shall be provisional only and shall have no effect unless and until confirmed by a competent Court in England or Northern Ireland.

(2) The evidence of any witness who is examined on any such application shall be put into writing and such deposition shall be read over to and signed by him or her.

(3) Where such an order is made the Court shall send to the Governor-General for transmission to the Secretary of State the depositions so taken and a certified copy of the order together with a statement of the grounds on which the making of the order might have been opposed if the person against whom the order is made had been duly served with a summons and had appeared at the hearing and such information as the Court possesses for facilitating the identification of that person and ascertaining his or her whereabouts.

(Amended by Act 6 of 1976)

(4) Where any such provisional order has come before a Court in England or Northern Ireland for confirmation and the order has by that Court been remitted to the Court of Summary Jurisdiction which made the order for the purpose of taking further evidence that Court shall, after giving the prescribed notice, proceed to take the evidence in like manner and subject to the like conditions as the evidence in support of the original application.

(5) If upon the hearing of such evidence it appears to the Court that the order ought not to have been made the Court may rescind the order but in any other case the depositions shall be sent to the Governor-General and dealt with in like manner as the original depositions.

(Amended by Act 6 of 1976)

(6) The confirmation of an order made under this section shall not affect any power of a Court of Summary Jurisdiction to vary or rescind that order:

Provided that on the making of a varying or rescinding order the Court shall send a certified copy thereof to the Governor-General for transmission to the Secretary of State and that in the case of an order varying the original order the order shall not have any effect unless and until confirmed in like manner as the original order.

(Amended by Act 6 of 1976)

(7) The applicant shall have the same right of appeal if any against a refusal to make a provisional order as he or she would have had against a refusal to make the order had a summons been duly served on the person against whom the order is sought to be made.

Power of Court of Summary Jurisdiction to confirm maintenance order made in England or Northern Ireland.

6. (1) Where a maintenance order has been made by a Court in England or Northern Ireland and the order is provisional only and has no effect unless and until confirmed by a Court of Summary Jurisdiction in the State and a certified copy of the order together with the depositions of witnesses and a statement of the grounds on which the order might have been opposed has been transmitted to the Governor-General and it appears to the Governor-General that the person against whom the order was made is resident in the State the Governor-General may send the said documents to the prescribed officer of the Court of Summary Jurisdiction in the district wherein such person resides with a requisition that a summons be issued calling upon the person to show cause why that order should not be confirmed and upon receipt of such documents and requisition the court shall issue such a summons and cause it to be served upon such person.

(Amended by Act 6 of 1976)

(2) A summons so issued may be served in the State in the manner prescribed for the service of a summons by the Magistrate's Code of Procedure Act, Cap. 3.17.

(3) At the hearing it shall be open to the person on whom the summons was served to raise any defence which he or she might have raised in the original proceedings had he or she been a party thereto but no other defence and the certificate from the Court which made the provisional order stating the grounds on which the making of the order might have been opposed if the person against whom the order was made had been a party to the proceedings shall be conclusive evidence that those grounds are grounds on which objection may be taken.

(4) If at the hearing the person served with the summons does not appear or on appearing fails to satisfy the Court that the order ought not to be confirmed the Court may confirm the order either without modification or with such modifications as to the Court after hearing the evidence may seem just.

(5) If the person against whom the summons was issued appears at the hearing and satisfies the Court that for the purpose of any defence it is necessary to remit the case to the Court which made the provisional order for the taking of any further evidence the Court may so remit the case and adjourn the proceedings for that purpose.

(6) Where a provisional order has been confirmed under this section it may be varied or rescinded in like manner as if it had originally been made by the confirming Court and where on an application for rescission or variation the Court is satisfied that it is necessary to remit the case to the Court which made the order for the purpose of taking any further evidence the Court may so remit the case and adjourn the proceedings for the purpose.

(7) Where an order has been so confirmed the person bound thereby shall have the same right of appeal if any against the confirmation of the order as he or she would have had against the making of the order had the order been an order made by the Court confirming the order.
